NEBRASKA SPELLS "SPORTSMANSHIP"

The University of Nebraska is known and respected all over the nation for its red-attired fans, as well as its football teams.

Nebraska fans also have a nationwide reputation for good sportsmanship, at home and away.

"Big League"—that's the way Nebraska teams and fans have acquitted themselves in past seasons, and that's the same goal for 1979.

The University of Nebraska urges all 1979 fans to continue this fine tradition of sportsmanship by extending courtesy to the visiting teams and officials.

All of us on the Cornhusker Staff salute our fans as the greatest in the nation and thank you for your support and sportsmanship.

Yours for Nebraska,

Fairbanks vs. Osborne—The First Meeting

Nebraska Trys For 12th Straight Win Over Colorado Today

Tom Osborne's undefeated Nebraska Cornhuskers will be looking for their seventh win of the season today as the Huskers host Chuck Fairbanks' Buffaloes from the University of Colorado.

The Huskers are currently 6-0 overall and 2-0 in the league, tied for first place with Oklahoma. Colorado is 1-5 overall, its lone win a 17-16 verdict at Indiana, and 0-2 in the conference.

Last Saturday, the Huskers traveled to Stillwater and defeated Oklahoma State 36-0, for the Blackshirts' third consecutive shutout. At Boulder last Saturday, the Buffs fought a stiff battle with Missouri, before dropping a 13-7 verdict.

Against OSU, the Huskers' Offensive Player of the Game was senior wingback Kenny Brown. Brown became the first NU wingback in modern times to rush for over 100 yards as he got 111 yards on just eight carries against the Cowboys, while also catching three passes for 33 yards and returning two punts for five yards and one kickoff for 19 yards.

The Cornhuskers' Defensive Player of the Game was senior right tackle Bill Barnett, who had three tackles and one pass broken up. What Barnett's stats don't show is that he was in the Cowboy backfield all afternoon, a factor that held OSU to 37 yards rushing and 79 yards passing.

Against Missouri, Colorado led 7-3 in the third quarter, but gave up 10 second half points and fell victim to the Tigers. The Buffs were led by senior quarterback Bill Solomon, who completed 16-37 passes for 180 yards and one touchdown.

Today's contest pits two of the nation's finest coaches in a heated battle, Nebraska's Osborne and Colorado's Fairbanks.

Osborne has firmly established himself as one of the nation's winningest coaches, with a seven-year mark of 61-16-2. During each of his last six years at NU, he has led the Huskers to a bowl game and a national Top 10 ranking. In 1975 and last season, Osborne directed the Huskers to a share of the Big 8 title, and for his efforts last year, he was named the Big 8 Coach of the Year.

Fairbanks returned to the college scene this season following a six-year absence, when he was the head coach and general manager of the New England Patriots. From 1973-78, Fairbanks led New England to a 56-42 record and into two playoffs, in 1976 and '78.

Prior to his New England stint, as Husker fans well know, Fairbanks was the head coach at Oklahoma, where from 1967-72, he was 34-8-0 and won two Big 8 titles, in 1967 and '68. While at OU, Fairbanks faced Bob Devaney coached NU teams six times, and won three, in 1967 (21-14), 1968 (47-0) and in 1972, his last trip to Lincoln, 17-14.

Nebraska leads the NU-CU series 25-11-1 and have beaten the Buffs for 11 straight years, dating back to 1968. Colorado's last win over Nebraska was a 21-16 triumph over the Huskers in 1967 at Lincoln.

As one of the great Big 8 rivalries is about to start, Husker fans everywhere welcome Fairbanks and his staff, along with the Colorado team and their fans, to the 104th consecutive sellout at Memorial Stadium.

SPORT YOUR COLORS IN NEBRASKA FANS VANS!

Imagine pulling into a Cornhuskers home game behind the wheel of your University of Nebraska FANS VAN. It's a crimson van with white rocker panels and side stripes, plus lettering in the rocker panels reading "Cornhuskers". It is also available in white with bright red rocker panels and side stripes. A custom-designed spare tire cover on the back completes the FANS VANS package.

Inside, the most sophisticated, luxurious interior you'll ever see in a custom van. Plush velour upholstery. Teak wood trim and solid teak pedestal table. Fabric ceiling and wall liners. Plush shag carpeting.

The Nebraska FANS VANS sport our rich, carmine interior. Earthy Buckskin or silver with burgundy trim interiors are also available. Or you can order your Nebraska FANS VAN with real leather interior, at extra cost.

And to complete the FANS VANS treatment, the official seal of the University of Nebraska has been engraved in a copper medallion and inset into the teak table.

What a way to sport your colors! What a way to show your school spirit! And what a great way to enjoy weekend home games, tailgate parties and Cornhusker victory celebrations.

ALSO AVAILABLE: FANS VANS models for all Big Eight Conference schools, all Southwest Conference schools, all Big Ten schools plus many more.

See your local Chevrolet or G.M.C. Truck Dealer for details.

THE TOUCHDOWN CLUB OF NEBRASKA

One of the groups most instrumental in helping the University of Nebraska Athletic Department grow in the field of intercollegiate sports is the Nebraska Touchdown Club.

Contributions from TD Club members have enabled the Cornhuskers to build a fine grant-in-aid program and continued support from the Touchdown Club, and groups like the Husker Achievement Awards, the Extra Point Club, and the Cornhusker Beef Club, will insure that the Nebraska Cornhuskers will always hold a prominent place in the college sports world.

The University of Nebraska Athletic Department salutes the many members of the Touchdown Club and takes this opportunity to say a sincere "Thank You."

Nebraska Educational Television grows into vast telecommunications enterprise

By Ruthanna Russel
Information Director
Nebraska ETV Network

On a chilly morning in November 1954, a handful of students and three television professionals produced the first telecast on KUON-TV, Channel 12, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's educational television station.

On that first Monday, programs began at 9 a.m. and ended at noon. Actual telecasting totaled 18 hours per week.

Today, KUON-TV is the hub of the nine-channel statewide Nebraska Educational Television Network, providing regular daily program service throughout the year. Starting now at 6:45 a.m. weekdays, 7:30 a.m. on Saturdays and 2:30 p.m. on Sundays to midnight signoffs, KUON-TV originates 112¼ broadcast hours per week—a total of 5,837 hours per year—of uninterrupted noncommercial television viewing. Nebraska ETV Network programming is now within reach of virtually every home and classroom in Nebraska, making the Network one of the largest and most important educational and cultural resources in the State.

When KUON-TV first signed on the air in 1954 as the nation's seventh educational television station, its leaders scarcely envisioned the multi-faceted telecommunications enterprise they were starting.

KUON-TV, Channel 12, first operated from the studios of commercial television station KOLN-TV, Channel 10. This was the outcome of enterprising Michigan radio and television station owner John E. Fetzer's proposition to Chancellor Clifford Hardin that the University of Nebraska take over one of two commercial stations Fetzer had just purchased in Lincoln.

Chancellor Hardin was well aware of the importance of the VHF Channel 12 offer and foresaw the potential long range benefits of a broadcast station to the land grant institution.

Temporary Trustee

With Hardin's endorsement, John Fetzer and his lawyers worked out an ingenious plan through which Lincoln banker Byron J. Dunn temporarily would hold the television station license as trustee, with the University to provide all programming.

By 1956, arrangements were made for the University to assume from Trustee Dunn the Fetzer studio cameras and transmission equipment, subject to approval from the Federal Communications Commission. Then, with the backing of $100,000 from the Ford Foundation's Fund for Adult Education for purchase of television equipment, the Chancellor found funds to renovate a portion of the basement of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Temple Building. In the fall of 1957, with thanks to the KOLN-TV staff for their patience and understanding, Channel 12 moved into its new campus television production center. Night-time programming was added.

By 1959, University of Nebraska Television became a separate department of the University, reporting to the Chancellor's office—as it does to this day.

A three-year grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education started development of television/correspondence course for the high schools in the then-limited Channel 12 viewing area. This led to a non-profit consortium of schools incorporated as the Nebraska Council for Educational Television to bring Channel 12 instructional programs to elementary and secondary schools and to initiate expansion of the KUON-TV coverage area. Next came the Nebraska Legislature's adoption of a resolution urging study of the feasibility of a statewide network. Grant funds were secured, a Governor's study committee was appointed, and a statewide ETV Network plan was developed for Nebraska.

Start Network

In 1963, the Unicameral enacted, and the Governor signed into law, two bills implementing the recommendations of the state plan: one appropriating funds to construct the first phase of the Network; and the second, the Nebraska Educational Television Commission and making it responsi-

sity of Nebraska at Omaha to serve Metropolitan Omaha and specialized University and instructional needs.

By 1968, there were nine stations in the ETV Statewide Network. Since then, 15 low power translators have been added to improve reception in certain communities and adequately reach communities without reception from one of the nine stations.

Telecommunications Center

Today the Nebraska ETV Network operates from one of the nation's finest television facilities—the Terry M. Carpenter Nebraska Educational Telecommunications Center located at 1800 N. 33rd St. on the East Campus of the University of Nebraska—Lincoln. Completed late in 1971, the vices unit produces under contract with the Nebraska Department of Education for elementary and secondary school classroom use, with NETCHE, Inc. for collegiate instructional purposes, and with the UNL Division of Continuing Studies college courses at home program.

University of Nebraska Television also serves the various academic departments, schools and divisions of the University of Nebraska—Lincoln in their residential teaching and research missions. It coordinates inter-campus closed circuit television services for the University, including a 6-channel closed circuit distribution system reaching more than 200 cabled classrooms and meeting rooms in 40 buildings on the City and East cam-ble for development and administration of the statewide Network.

Chancellor Clifford Hardin was a principal architect of the memorandum of agreement between the University and the new ETV Commission which joined the two agencies in a partnership operation of the Network while protecting the authority and jurisdiction of each. The agreement remains intact to this day.

In 1964, the University received a $309,500 grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare toward full power activation and relocation of KUON-TV midway between Lincoln and Omaha. Whereas, until that time, Channel 12 had broadcast only with the gift transmitter from Lincoln to a radius of only 35 miles, on January 18, 1965 the new KUON-TV began beaming its full power signal from the Mead Field Laboratory to Lincoln, Omaha and 65 percent of the State's population.

The same year, two new stations for the statewide Network were completed: KLNE-TV, Channel 3, Lexington, to serve south central Nebraska; and KYNE-TV, Channel 26, located on the campus of the University of Nebraska at Omaha to serve Metropolitan Omaha and specialized University and instructional needs. By 1968, there were nine stations in the ETV Statewide Network. Since then, 15 low power translators have been added to improve reception in certain communities and adequately reach communities without reception from one of the nine stations.

Today the Nebraska ETV Network operates from one of the nation's finest television facilities—the Terry M. Carpenter Nebraska Educational Telecommunications Center located at 1800 N. 33rd St. on the East Campus of the University of Nebraska—Lincoln. Completed late in 1971, the building provides a major production center capable of designing, producing, recording, duplicating and distributing all forms of educational and public telecommunications programs. Here University of Nebraska Television/KUON-TV produces a variety of award-winning series and special programs for statewide audiences and special programs for distribution regionally and nationally—programs like the cultural affairs specials, "Song of the Plains: The Story of Mari Sandoz" and "Findings: A Film About Reinhold Marxhausen" and the 50-program innovative "Anyone For Tennyson?" poetry series, which aired nationally over three seasons on 134 Public Broadcasting Service stations across the country. Or the public affairs coverage of the Nebraska Legislature when in session. Or the live coverage by the special projects unit of statewide high school sports competitions and "The Backyard Farmer," "The Grand Generation," and the "Outdoor Nebraska" weekly series. Also winning award and national distribution credits are programs which the University of Nebraska Television instructional services unit produces under contract with the Nebraska Department of Education for elementary and secondary school classroom use, with NETCHE, Inc. for collegiate instructional purposes, and with the UNL Division of Continuing Studies college courses at home program.

Satellite Transmission

KUON-TV begins its second 25 years by transmitting from Lincoln to a satellite 22,000 miles above the earth. In partnership with the Nebraska ETV Commission and the Central Educational Network (CEN), University of Nebraska Television/KUON-TV operates one of the five strategic origination terminals for the Public Broadcasting Service satellite distribution system. This receive/transmit earth station is located on Lincoln Municipal Airport Authority property. Not only does the Network receive the major portion of its evening and weekend program schedule via satellite, but programs originating from Nebraska's production and service centers may be transmitted directly from Lincoln via satellite to 274 public television stations in all fifty states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

These are some of the
New York Life Agents
in this community.
They're good people to know.

Join up with the winning team.

Ever since New York Life wrote its very first insurance policy more than 133 years ago, we've acted on the principle that excellence of service is the surest way to secure people's confidence and trust.

We've placed special emphasis, too, on the careful selection of men and women of integrity and ability to serve as New York Life Agents.

Maybe that's why millions of people depend on us today to help provide financial security for their families and their businesses.

For your financial security, join up with the winning team.

Managing money.

It's too important to make a game of it.

With some people, it's hit or miss.

Even for the vast majority of us who take our financial obligations seriously, balancing a budget isn't easy. Just when you think you've found the answer, inflation takes another bite out of your paycheck. And everything starts costing more. Putting the kids through school. Food. Clothes. A better home. Or even new appliances. Sometimes it makes you wonder if you ever can get ahead. No matter how hard you try.

Take an opportunity, not a chance.

Fortunately, there is someone you can turn to for help. Your Credit Union. Our business is helping people get more out of their money. We can help you save. Help you borrow. And, if you like, we can even show you how to avoid future money problems by suggesting practical strategies that really work.

We play it straight.

Too many organizations try to use personal financial counseling as a way to sell other services. A consolidation loan. A fee. A gimmicky savings account. Your credit union doesn't operate that way. Our financial counseling is free to each member. No strings attached.

We'll keep it confidential too.

Your business is nobody else's business. We don't gossip. Or send your name to anybody. Or turn you over to somebody who charges you for their help. We believe in being private. Practical, professional counseling. It's free for the asking at your credit union.

Discover your credit union.

We're doing more for you.

For information, please write your state's credit union league or CUNA, P O Box 431, Madison, WI, 53701.

JUBIL-AIRE NEBRASKA AIR HORNS

$74.95

This sturdy horn is chrome plated and made of high impact polypropylene. The compact, self-contained electrically operated system works off car battery and automatically plays the first few bars of the Fight Song at the touch of a single button. Installation can be made by any mechanic or do-it-yourself. For 12 volt systems. This in no way interferes with your regular car horn. Complete set, ready to install, includes trumpets, compressor, tubing, horn button (or switch), mounting brackets and instructions.

BLOCKING THE PUNT

RICH CLARKSON (Shot with Nikon equipment)

by Glenn Dickey, San Francisco CHRONICLE

Years ago during a high school junior varsity game three punts were blocked in an unusual manner. Three times the blocker setting himself up for the rush took a step backwards and three times the ball thudded into the blocker's rear.

Now the college game is more polished, and that particular version of the blocked punt has likely not occurred during Saturday's college outings. But there is no question that blocking the punt has become a key strategy in today's football games.

Jantzen
You know who.

Two years ago, Auburn blocked two Alabama punts and came away with an upset victory. Last fall, Washington blocked two Stanford punts, which enabled the Huskies to overcome more than 500 yards of Stanford total offense to win, 34-31.

"I think blocking a punt is a very important factor," says a Midwestern coach, "because it can affect a team for a whole game. If you block a punt—or even come close—early in the game that kicker is going to be thinking about it for the rest of the game, and he's going to be rushing his kick."

And yet, sometimes coaches neglect this phase of the game. "I remember a game early in my career when I was an assistant," says another Midwestern coach, "and we had two punts blocked. Each time, a player went right by one blocker. Now, we had worked on this in practice and this man knew his assignment, but we really hadn't put a lot of emphasis on the play. My guess is that the player didn't really regard it as important. Maybe he was thinking of what he'd run the next time we got the ball. Well, that next time came up faster than it should have."

A Southeastern coach recognizes that problem. "You have to treat punting just as you would a basic offensive or defensive play," he says, "and you have to spend just as much time and emphasis on it as anything else."

There is no room for error in punting. On the average, it takes only 2.1 seconds from the snap to the kick; one-tenth of a second more can mean a block. And everyone must execute his assignment perfectly.

"If you run a sweep," says a Southwest coach, "you know that probably somebody will miss a block but you may still get a decent gain. On a punt, everybody knows where the ball is going, so every defensive man goes right there. If a blocker misses his man, that player is going to be in position to make the block. In that sense, it's like a quarterback passing on third-and-15."

The perfect punt starts with the snapper. If the ball does not get back fast enough, or if it is too high or too low, it does no good to have a punter who can kick the ball out of the stadium.

Teams often use specialists as long snappers instead of the regular center. "I'm willing to recruit a player who can do nothing else if he can make the long snap," says an Eastern coach. But there's a difference of opinion on what kind of player is best for the job.

"I think you're going to see more quarterbacks, more players from skilled positions, used to make the long snap," says a West Coast coach, "because they'll have more feel."

But a different coach thinks size is more important. "Your center has to be able to get at least a piece of the man coming through, because otherwise, that man will have a clear path."

The next key is the punter, who must be able not only to kick the ball well but get the ball off fast. An extra step or a slight slowdown can cause a block. "And yet," says a Southeastern coach, "you don't want to talk too much about that because then he's likely to start rushing and getting off bad kicks."

Calling Defensive Signals From the Sideline

by George Breazeale, Austin AMERICAN STATESMAN

What does it all mean? Only the defensive signal caller and his coach know for sure.

Never take someone's word—put things in writing.

Lawyers live by that crisp credo—and, as much as possible in crisis situations, so do college football coaches.

Such communications tools as pencils and pads are hardly apropos on the autumn battlefield itself—so graphology by gesture has long since become a strategic lifestyle in the college game.

In no area of intercollegiate competition has semaphoric sophistication—the use of signals from the sideline—reached the level of intensity of the department of defense. Some on-the-field quarterbacks are dealt their deck of plays through the visual signal system, but a player shuttle—usually split receivers or running backs—after each play is perhaps more prevalent in the conduct of offense.

But, as any observant spectator will note in this year of 1979, college defenses live by the graphology of gesture.

Why? For two paramount reasons, says one prominent Midwestern coach.

"Signaling from the sideline cuts down immensely on the problem of

Careful people deserve to save. On auto. Homeowners. Commercial. And life.
Look for an independent SAFECO agent listed in the yellow pages.

One Southwest coach insists the key man is the blocking back who calls signals. "He has to be able to spot an overload and change blocking assignments, and he has to be able to run with the ball if you have a fake punt going."

Because punt blocking is so important, teams often use deception to take the pressure off.

A classic example was the 1972 Rose Bowl. Trailing, 10-3, with fourth-and-ten on its own 33, Stanford sensed that Michigan would put on a big rush. Jackie Brown ran with the ball instead, gained 31 yards and Stanford went on to score and eventually win the game, 13-12.

For years, some teams have started every fourth down play from regular formation and then shifted into punt formation. That makes the defense delay, because there is always the threat that a regular play will be run.

One Western coach says his team may reverse that strategy. He plans to use a quarterback as a blocker and, if the situation warrants, switch from punt formation to regular T formation. "That should make teams think a little," he says. "It'll take guts for a team to put ten men up on the line of scrimmage if they see that quarterback in there and know he may throw a pass."

On the other side of the scrimmage line, there are certain factors to consider, too. The first is that the punt blocking lineup must be basically the regular defense. If a coach has to make a lot of changes, the other team may line up without a huddle and kick the ball before the changes can be made.

"The guys going up the middle are the key," one mentor noted. "More punts are blocked by them, and if they get through, even if they don't get the ball, they can force the up backs to take them and allow the men coming from the flanks to block the punt. Of course, you've got to have good speed on the flanks to do it that way."

A punter must have the ability to concentrate in face of oncoming defenders.

Some coaches teach dubious methods. One is said to teach his players to drive through the blocker. "That way," says another coach, "the player can always claim to have been blocked into the punter."

Intimidation, in one form or another, has always been a factor. Sometimes, a snapper will lift the ball slightly before he snaps, and the defensive linemen will slap at it.

More frequently, though, teams attempt real physical intimidation. "I've seen teams just drill a center," remarked a Midwesterner. "I think that should be outlawed."

Sometimes a linebacker will charge the center from several yards back. The center must be prepared; he must keep his concentration. His role is crucial if the punter is to have enough time to get the ball off successfully.

What decides when a team tries to block a punt? Sometimes it's the opposition; if a team has trouble on that play, the other team will obviously try for a punt block. Other times, it's the situation—if a team is backed up to its goal.

One situation has changed. The rulesmakers have made roughing the kicker an automatic first down this year, instead of just a 15-yard penalty. Previously, a team might gamble in a fourth-and-20 situation, because a roughing the kicker penalty still wouldn't give the other team a first down.

"That will make teams a little more cautious," notes one coach, "but you'll still see teams going for punt blocks frequently because they are such important plays."

No doubt about it, a blocked punt can change the momentum of a game.

LOOKING BACK TO SINGLE PLATOON FOOTBALL

by Bill Lyon, Philadelphia INQUIRER

Once upon a time there was this strange sport called college football and it was populated by that now extinct creature known as the 60-minute man.

He was a rare and wondrous specimen who could help move the ball or help prevent the other team from moving the ball, and the only time he had to make a pit stop to suck on oranges was at halftime.

Back in those days, they really did play a game in which you actually got to block and tackle, one in which you played both offense and defense.

That's right. The fullback often doubled as a linebacker. If you were an end, then you were an end; that is, you blocked and you ran pass patterns and then you switched around and tried to stop the sweep or you tried to get to the quarterback. There were no such positions as "defensive tackle to pinch in on short yardage situations." Or "outside linebacker who blitzes on obvious passing down."

Once the offense surrendered the ball, the quarterback didn't retreat to the sanctuary of the sideline, plug himself into a headset and talk Xs and Os with the braintrust up in the pressbox.

No, he stayed out there on the field and took up his position as, say, the safety in the defensive secondary.

Actually, in the evolution of college football, the links in the chain go something like this: One-platoon begat two-platoon which reverted to one-platoon which in turn became wild card substitution which was followed by two-platoon which has now evolved into today's system of mass platoons of specialists.

That is, admittedly, a little tough to follow. The important point is this: one-platoon football, which goes all the way back to leather helmets, flying wedges and Princeton vs. Rutgers, really isn't all that old.

College football reverted to one-platoon during World War II, when there was an obvious manpower shortage and it was necessary.

As recently as 1948, one school took only 45 players to a bowl game. And

continued

Something so special is meant to be shared.

Holland's Heineken, America's number one imported beer.

those devastating West Point teams of Blanchard and Davis, Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside, routinely played three dozen people, sometimes even fewer. Moreover, coaching staffs numbered only three or four, or about 40 percent of today's total.

There are, basically, two schools of thought on one-platoon football. Those who favor it say that what unlimited substitution really means is unlimited expenses. Those who oppose it say the game has become too sophisticated for only a handful to play.

"Well, I'll grant you that in one-platoon football players probably were more versatile," one coach commented. "But that doesn't mean today's players aren't as versatile themselves. It's just that they don't get the chance to play both ways, or three or four positions. That's no fault of theirs. And it doesn't mean they can't.

"It's just that the game has changed, it's become more technical, more refined. Listen, you have to be a heckuva athlete to play college football today. The game is more scientific. There are a lot more subtleties to each position than there used to be. Have you ever tried to read blocking keys? That's like deciphering the Dead Sea Scrolls.

"We change plays and assignments in the blink of an eye, and a player has to know what his first priority is, about half a dozen options off that, and he's got maybe half a second to sort through all those possibilities and then react. We ask players today to do a whole lot more, especially mentally, than they were asked to do years ago.

"I don't mean this as a knock against yesterday's players, but there's no comparison to the kind of football then and what you see played out there today."

Today's teams routinely run 90 to 100 players, plus walk-ons, and that translates into larger charter flights and more hotel rooms and a very large travel budget.

But a number of coaches feel that multi-platoon ball is beneficial because it means more people have an opportunity to play.

"Not only do more kids get to play because we have specialists for making field goals and stopping field goals and whatnot, but we need more players," says another coach. "How many coaches do you hear crying about how badly they need depth? You get two or three key injuries to starters and you better have quality back-ups to replace them. And we get more injuries than they did in one-platoon ball. For a number of reasons. The game is faster and kids today are bigger and stronger. That's just a biological fact.

The kicker played both offense and defense during the single platoon football era.

"In the old days, you didn't need as many kids to turn a program around because everybody was playing maybe 30-35 guys. Now you've got to have a good recruiting year every year because you can bet that every team you're going to play is out there stockpiling the talent.

"Don't get me wrong, one-platoon ball was OK. For its time. But times change, the game changes, players change. The way it is now, more players get into the game, and it seems to me that was the idea when this whole thing got started."

One man who still has vivid memories of playing one-platoon football is Glenn Davis, the Army halfback who was a Heisman Trophy winner in the 1940s.

"It was, of course, an entirely different game then than what you play now," he said.

"First off, I'd only carry the ball maybe 15 times a game. Now it's not unusual for a good tailback to get the ball 35 or 40 times in one game. Of course, he can go sit down when the defense is in.

"When I was playing, when it was time for our defense, I became a defensive halfback. So I'm sure I logged as much running time, perhaps more, than today's offensive backs because I'd either be coming up to help make a tackle, or I'd be running back defending against a pass.

"There were no specialty teams then, either," Davis continued. "You'd block on one play, carry the ball the next, and maybe run a pass route on the third.

Then when it was time to punt, you'd be going downfield to cover the kick. One thing you didn't need was a lullaby to help you sleep at night.

"I've heard a lot of arguments about whether we were better all-around athletes than the men who play today. But, frankly, I don't think you can make comparisons.

"It's like comparing the proverbial apples and oranges. Players today are bigger, stronger and faster, and they have better equipment and better coaching. And the game is much more complex.

"But I don't think today's players are as versatile as we were. And they might not have the fun we had. But that's no fault of theirs. They're programmed from the time they start playing pee-wee ball, to be a specialist.

"And the sport itself," Davis added, "has become year-round. You report in August, you play three or four months, then you go right into off-season weight training and then there's spring practice. It's very rare for a college athlete to play more than one sport. It wasn't unusual in my day for a college student to be a three-letter man in one school year.

"You talk about the 60-minute man being extinct. The real rarity is the three-letter athlete."

There are a considerable number of college coaches who prefer the present set-up because it allows more people the opportunity to play and that the end product is more polished and more appealing to the spectator.

"What I loved to do," said one coach, "was to make up an offensive team and a defensive team and what we'd call a two-way team. The two-way team was made up of our best athletes. And they'd play the first seven-eight minutes of the game.

"We'd end up playing at least 33 guys the first quarter. To me, that's the biggest advantage of multi-platoon football. You get greater participation. You have a kid who faithfully spends the winter in the weight room, who doesn't miss a spring drill, who works out all summer and then goes through all the banging in practice, he has earned the right to get into a game. He should be rewarded for all that dedication.

"Plus, I think the quality of play is better today than with one-platoon football. In the old days, a player would have to pace himself, save something for the fourth quarter. Now you can tell a defensive player, for example, to go all-out, every play, and after about three minutes he'll get a breather.

"One platoon football," the coach concluded, "may be a dinosaur, but I don't think we should try to resurrect it."

communication," the coach said. "If the defensive coordinator gives the defense to a player to take out on to the field, the chances of confusion are increased because he has to relay it to the defensive signal caller. You're eliminating one middle man, and any time you can do that, particularly with something as complex as defensive formations, that's good."

Reason number two is embraced in the concept of team unity.

"There is so much player interaction, so much teamwork involved in playing good defense that once you get a set lineup you don't want to fragment it, to any degree, by shuttling players in and out. In theory, it's practical to shuttle players in with defensive alignments, but I've never heard of anyone doing it and I'm sure team unity is the reason."

Until a quarter century or so ago, signaling from the sideline, as far as setting college defenses was concerned, would have been impossible to find.

"Until the late 1950s, there were only two or three basic defenses," explained a Southwest coach. "You used either a basic 4-3 or maybe a 5-2, or maybe in extreme occasions a six-man line, and they seldom changed.

"The advent of the so-called Monster Man, who moved into different gaps and was a part of stunting defenses, changed all that. Practically overnight, in the space of one or two seasons, you had not three or four things to set as a maximum, but anywhere from a dozen on up. To use them effectively, you had to signal from the sidelines."

So, when the curious spectator fixes his gaze on a coach who appears to be a blend of contortionist and gymnast, he'll know that a flood of complex information is deluging a defensive signal caller, usually a linebacker, and that in a split second the entire defensive unit will have made its adjustments.

And, if the watcher wonders what each gesture—left hand clasped to the right elbow, followed by right hand to right ear, for example—means, then he has company. More than once, opposing coaching staffs have tried to decipher those signals, to help their offenses capitalize on the fruits of the code breaking.

"I'll be glad to tell you what each and every gesture means—right now," said a Southeastern coach. "I don't mind telling you at all—because, by the next game, we'll have changed them all.

"The first signal, whatever it may be, is for the basic defensive front you'll use. With our team, it would almost always be a 4-3. After that, the down and distance are critical factors. If it's a likely passing down, the first signal might be for a basic 4-3 front—but with a hard rush on the passer, say, with the ends crashing.

Calling signals from the sidelines eliminates dealing with a middle man.

"With those three things, the basic front, the down, and the distance established, you've also established what backfield coverage you'll use. Backfield coverages are automatic, and once your signal caller calls the defense, the secondary knows what its assignments are."

Obviously, the defensive signal caller has to be an intelligent fellow indeed—but of equal importance in the scheme of organization and execution are a pair of sharp eyes.

"You'd be surprised how many great athletes, with great intelligence and superb reflexes, don't have 20/20 vision," reflected a Big Eight coach. "And sometimes you don't learn that your signal caller has visual problems and can't see the hand signals until you play a night game.

"Even the ones with good vision, though, you try to help as much as possible. Hand signals, signals with the fingers, are a necessity, but you want to stay away from a sequence of signals that might have three fingers together and then two together. You have virtually your entire body to use as a signal system, you can send signals standing or squatting down, and despite the number of things you have to communicate, you want to take as much complexity from it as you can."

Until the National Collegiate Athletic Association eliminated in-person scouting by coaching staffs three years ago, defensive signal systems, no matter how complex, were regarded as a challenge by some would-be code breakers.

"Some scouts would write down every gesture the defensive coordinator made in signaling before each play, then later match this up with the game film to try to see what the signals meant," said a veteran Southwest coach. "As long as scouting was permitted, it was theoretically possible to figure out what the signals meant, because the film and a look at the man doing the signaling were available. Now, it's more difficult, if not impossible, to steal them.

"But we change them several times each season, anyway. And, just in case someone gets extra energetic, we usually have two coaches giving different defensive signals—and only the defensive caller on the field actually knows which one of the signals is live."

PENDLETON WOOLEN MILLS, PORTLAND, OREGON 97201.

They perform in relative anonymity each year before millions of sports fans. They're as much responsible for generating enthusiasm in the stands as are the teams who battle on the field.

And they've been doing their thing ever since the days of Roman chariot races.

Guess who? Why it's the cheerleaders, of course.

Supporting your team or favorite athlete vocally is an age-old art. However, a student at the University of Minnesota is credited with being the first modern day cheerleader when he got up at a football game in pre-World War I days and started leading cheers and waving his arms to fire up the crowd.

Most schools soon developed cheer-teams or squads, but their activity remained basically simple. They merely reacted to the events on the field and tried fans yelling something in unison. In fact, some of the early cheerleaders were called "yellsters."

All that's changed now.

The stereotype of a college cheerleader once was the buxom blonde who wiggled and cooed in front of the crowd much like the professional cheerleaders of today. She got her job because of looks and build rather than any athletics.

That may have been a fair assessment of yesteryear, but it certainly doesn't hold up today.

There's still a place for the beautiful buxom blonde but she must also be part gymnast and part dare-devil. There are tall and skinny brunettes short and stocky redheads, too.

And, possibly the biggest change of all, there are male cheerleaders who weigh 200 pounds, stand 6-foot-2 and are built like weight lifters.

It's not enough anymore to leap about with every good play or try to lift the spirits of your fans when things are going bad.

College cheerleading is becoming a production, an integral part of the athletic scene on a campus. And the attitude of those he-men who coach the physical teams like football and basketball and wrestling notwithstanding, it's most definitely a sport.

"When you go by the strict definition of a sport, and you can check Webster's, it's to frolic and play and participate," says Pauline Hess, director of the United States Cheerleaders Association, who also has coached one Midwest cheerleading squad for 16 years.

"It's certainly not to be confused with an athletic event in which a score is kept. But anyone who has seen good cheerleading squads work will testify that cheerleaders are athletes."

At some schools cheerleading can even be considered a revenue producing sport. Competitions sometimes award as much as $10,000 to the winners. Outside of football, basketball and hockey, not too many sports can claim to bring that much revenue to the universities they represent.

Cheerleading has even evolved so far that there is a national competition for collegiate teams in which performances are rated by judges and a champion declared.

Michigan State University accomplished a unique double last March when its basketball team won the NCAA championship and its cheerleaders were named national champs.

The top five teams from throughout the country were invited to the national finals at the Osmond Studios in Provo, Utah, last winter. In addition to the Spartans, defending champion North Carolina, Tulsa, Mississippi and Southern California made the select group.

Each team presented a six-minute routine that was put together for a TV special which gave the sport a shot in the arm and gave those who haven't been paying attention a chance to see just how far cheerleading has come.

"When I was a cheerleader in college, it was really a big thing if one girl managed to stand on the back of another who was bent over," Hess said, with a smile. "Now, you see mounts as many as five bodies high."

"Cheerleading has become a part of the panorama of the sports scene. It's colorful and skillful."

The addition of males was a major stride toward cheerleading as it's become today.

"I never worked with a guy before I got to college," a cheerleader from a large university said. "In high school, I might stand on the shoulders of a girl who was wobbling so badly I didn't think we'd last more than a couple of seconds.

"When I got to college and saw the way the men threw the women around, I didn't think I could do it. But I found out differently. Working with a guy opens up all kinds of avenues in cheerleading in terms of duo stunts and pyramids."

Becoming a male cheerleader is a matter of overcoming certain barriers, not the least of which is sociological.

"It took me a long time to admit to people that I was a cheerleader," said another cheerleading captain. "When I wore the letter jacket I got for being a cheerleader, people would ask what I got it for. I always told them I used to be a gymnast."

"Actually, I was a gymnast in high school."

Since winning a national championship and being seen on TV a couple of times, this cheerleader is no longer afraid to tell people he's a cheerleader.

In fact, it's quite the opposite now.

"There's a certain amount of notoriety attached to being in the finals and frankly I enjoy it," he added. "We had a great year at our university in athletics and we felt we did our part to add a little prestige to it all."

Hess has been out of coaching for four seasons, but she's kept a close eye on cheerleading's progress and says one key to winning a national championship is the skill to make pyramids.

"I think the best squads in the country for some time have been using mounts and I think this type of stunt for the cheerleaders is becoming more and more popular," Hess said. "What you actually have in the whole field of cheerleading is the expanding of capabilities of young people in the area of fitness."

"They simply can do things easier now than ever before. Some of the duo stunts are mind-boggling and look dangerous. But with the proper precautions, training and coaching, the stunts are not that dangerous."

Just how much time goes into building a cheerleading team? A lot!

One of the major concerns always is with safety. That's why cheerleading squads practice as much as they do. Cheerleading is like any other sport—and it is considered a sport by many—and the more the participants work at it the better they get.

One advisor whose team has reached the finals has his 16-person squad show up on campus one week before the first football game in the fall. That means the cheerleaders are on campus from three to four weeks before school starts.

"It's not just fun and games, either," he said. "During those weeks, we work as hard and I'm sure as long as any other team on campus."

The cheerleaders will work out five or six days a week from six to eight hours per day. Once school starts, they have two or three practices per week for two to three hours a session.

"We put together new mounts, go over old stuff and polish our individual and duo skills," he said. "We even started an off-season program for the men this summer so we'll all be stronger in the fall."

Included in the workouts were a lot of running and weightlifting.

"Some of the problems we have is not being strong enough to throw the girls around the way we should in a safe manner," he said. "That's the case often with the new male cheerleaders. We're all making an effort to come back stronger."

It's not a one-sided proposition, however.

The female cheerleaders are not asked to pump iron, of course. They're just asked to watch what they eat.

"The guys are always kidding us," one cheerleader said. "When we're on the road and get an ice cream or something, they'll tell us that we can have just one lick."

For the most part, the female cheerleaders weigh from 90 to 120 pounds. And as might be imagined, there is a lot of good-humored maneuvering by the male cheerleaders to get the 90-pounder.

At some schools cheerleaders attend every home and away football game and all the home basketball games as well as tournament contests.

"Traveling and seeing neat places is one of the real benefits of being a cheerleader," a Midwest squad member said. "Plus, it becomes a very important part of your life."

"I didn't realize how much it meant to me until I tried out again last spring and the possibility of not making it faced me. Wow, that sure sent a scare through me."

Each school has different methods of selecting its squad.

Some schools take five days, others two weeks and still others six to seven weeks. A West Coast school has separate tryouts for the men and women while a Southern university has school elections to whittle the list of candidates down to a more workable size for tryouts.

The tryouts can be long and complicated.

"Personally, I like tryouts because they keep you on your toes and make you stay up with the changes in the sport," one successful candidate said.

Cheerleading adds color and excitement to the college sports scene.

"There's no such thing as sloughing your way through the tryouts."

Each candidate, including ones from previous teams, is required to master a list of skills from single to duo to team stunts.

No one is guaranteed a position on a squad, although the students with previous experience obviously have an advantage. The competition to make the squads is intense and each year squads are likely to lose members from the previous year because a newcomer scores higher.

The cheerleaders of today have a distinct advantage over the ones of two decades ago even before they arrive on the college campuses.

More emphasis is put on cheerleading in high school as there are 19 different organizations similar to the ones Hess helps run. Most are aimed to the high school age and younger cheerleaders.

The United States Cheerleaders Association alone offers 134 four-day sessions in 35 states. For the first time in 1978, there were two aimed at college cheerleaders—one at Ohio State and the other at the U.S. Naval Academy.

"Twenty-six years ago I spoke at a little affair about cheerleading and a bunch of people representing different schools came up to me afterwards and told me how much instruction was needed in that area," Hess said. "Ever since, I've dedicated myself to educating and improving cheerleaders everywhere."

ing and improving cheerleaders everywhere."

In August of 1978 more than 3,000 cheerleaders from throughout the nation—all champions of local clinics—converged on Lansing, Mich., for the largest championship of its kind in the world.

"I can remember how slowly things got started when I decided to set up clinics," Hess recalled. "We'd have as few as twenty girls come and pay their own money."

"Now some schools send all the way to 30 members at a time and pay for it. We had 350 show up at Western Michigan last year."

The instructors at these various clinics spend a week at Michigan State each June learning a myriad of stunts, mounts and cheers to teach at their own session.

"We require our instructors to learn 35 cheers, 100 chants, 25 duo mounts, 10 pom-pom routines and six dance movement patterns," Hess said. "In addition, we have meetings on things like organizational problems, fund raising and spirit."

"Once we teach them what we feel they should know, the instructors then have the option to set up their clinic the way they want. No matter what individual and team stunts we teach the young cheerleaders, the keys to being a good cheerleader are still the same—leadership and showmanship."

GOOD NEWS FOR PEOPLE 7'2" AND UNDER.

If you've always thought a little car meant a lot of crowding, you've obviously never looked into a Volkswagen Rabbit.

There happens to be so much room in a Rabbit that all 7'2" of Wilt Chamberlain can fit comfortably into the driver's seat.

Because the Rabbit has even more headroom than a Rolls-Royce.

As well as more room for people and things than practically every other imported car in its class. Including every Datsun. Every Toyota. Every Honda, Mazda, and Renault.

Not to mention every small Ford and Chevy.

And, of course, what's all the more impressive about the room you get in a Rabbit is that it comes surrounded by the Rabbit itself. The car that, according to Car and Driver Magazine, "...does more useful and rewarding things than any other small car in the world..."

So how can you go wrong?

With the Rabbit you not only get the comfort of driving the most copied car in America.

You also get the comfort of driving a very comfortable car.

Because it may look like a Rabbit on the outside.

But it's a Rabbit on the inside.

THE FIRST CHEVY OF THE '80s. CITATION. OUR MOST SUCCESSFUL NEW CAR EVER.

Ever since its introduction, people have been flooding Chevy showrooms across the country to see the 1980 Chevy Citation. And according to Retail Delivery Reports, 33,765 units were sold in its first three weeks, more than any new entry Chevrolet has ever introduced.

MID-SIZE ROOM FOR 5.

Citation's engine is mounted sideways, so the passenger compartment can be bigger. In fact, in EPA interior dimensions, Citation is classified as a mid-size car. With the back seat folded down there's room enough for two adults in front and 30 bags of groceries in back.

0 TO 50 IN 9 SECONDS FLAT WITH THE AVAILABLE V6.

In engineering tests, Citation goes from 0 to 50 in 9 seconds flat. That's with available 2.8 Liter V6 engine and automatic transmission. California figures not available. (Citation is equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your dealer for details.)

EASY ON GAS. 24 EPA ESTIMATED MPG. 38 HIGHWAY ESTIMATE.

That's with Citation's standard 2.5 Liter 4-cylinder engine and manual transmission. (Manual transmission currently not available in California. Calif. estimates lower.)

Citation's standard 4-speed transmission is made to conserve gas. It's an overdrive. And at cruising speeds the 4th gear lets the engine run slower than with a conventional transmission, helping to get impressive fuel economy.

IMPRESSIVE LONG-RANGE CRUISING ESTIMATES, TOO.

And Citation's long-range cruising estimates are just as impressive. [336] miles based on EPA estimated MPG (city) mileage figures, and 532 miles based on estimated highway MPG. Range figures obtained by multiplying Citation's 14-gallon fuel tank capacity rating by the EPA mileage estimates.

REMEMBER: Compare the circled estimated MPG to the estimated MPG of other cars. You may get different mileage and range depending on your speed, trip length and weather. Your actual city mileage and range will be less in heavy city traffic. Your actual mileage will probably be less than the highway estimate.

YOU'VE GOT TO DRIVE IT TO BELIEVE IT.

When you drive Citation you'll see what all the excitement is about. The way it feels. The way it maneuvers. The way it rides. And Citation's front wheel drive puts approximately 65% of its weight over the "driving wheels" to give you impressive traction on wet or snowy roads.

IT'S A WHOLE NEW KIND OF COMPACT CAR.

There's still a lot about Citation that we haven't mentioned. Like slip stream design to cut down on wind resistance and wind noise. The hidden cargo area in all hatchback models, so what's inside is protected from view. A dual diagonal braking system. And much, much more. That's why we encourage you to see your Chevy dealer and test drive the 1980 Chevy Citation today. This could be the car you've had in mind.

The American Eagle Radial. Why it belongs on America's finest cars.

The Goodyear American Eagle Radial tire is as revolutionary today as our first rayon cord tire was in 1938 and our Polyglas in 1967 and the Polysteel Radial when introduced in 1974.

What makes the American Eagle Radial the tire for today is belts of Flexten cord. It is made from a flexible, man-made aramid fiber that is, pound for pound, stronger than steel. Flexten cord—a step ahead of steel—makes the American Eagle Radial tough and strong. Yet, the American Eagle is gratifyingly smooth riding, too.

Comfort, control and confidence are the qualities of the American Eagle Radial... the unique luxury tire designed by Goodyear for the American driver and the American road. We invite you to inspect and to enjoy American ingenuity... from Goodyear.

PASS PATTERNS

Since the forward pass was introduced to football in 1906, it's happened a million times with kids playing in a schoolyard or vacant lot. The quarterback enters the huddle and announces, "Everybody go out for a pass." The receivers do just that, looking for a way to get by, get in front of, or somehow break away from the defensive man.

Now we all suspect that's not the way it's done in organized, modern football. The quarterback calls a pass play and everybody better be paying attention because all the receivers have precise routes.

One wide receiver might be running a "streak" pattern. The other might be running a "slant." The tight end might be running a "post." One running back might be running a "flare." Another, after blocking, might "swing" out to become a safety-valve receiver.

In practice, they've been over these routes as many times as a mailman. They know exactly how many steps (or yards) they run before making a cut to be at an appointed place at an appointed time. This precision is important, because in many patterns the quarterback throws before the receiver makes his final cut.

Funny thing, though, a little bit of sandlot football is being seen in the college game. By necessity, pass patterns today may not be quite as precise as the coaches draw them on the blackboard.

"It used to be we'd run the play come hell or high water, but now the receivers alter their routes," says one Western Athletic Conference coach, whose teams thrive on a dropback passing offense. "Every play now the receivers read (the defense) and then alter their patterns."

A successful multiple-offense coach from the South confirms this opinion. "The pass route has to change according to coverage," he says. "The receivers have to recognize the different types of coverages used against them. They try to get a pre-snap read—but they've got to be able to react and get to the open spot. The quarterback, of course, has got to read, too."

Every team does have the quick-hitting pass in its repertoire—one, two, three and it's thrown, oblivious to the defense. But on most plays both the passer and receiver must take in to ac-over its 1979 counterpart. (Based on a comparison of 1979 and 1980 Pontiac Phoenix models with standard powertrains.* The highway percentage increase is 42 percent.)

It's all the more exciting when you consider these

Remember: Compare the circled estimated MPG with that of other cars. Your mileage may vary depending on speed, trip length and weather. And your actual highway mileage will probably be less than the highway estimate. Standard powertrain not currently avail. in Calif.

But great mileage is just the beginning of the excitement. Phoenix for 1980 has been dramatically redesigned from the ground up. Choose from the rakish new five-passenger Phoenix Coupe and the sporty and versatile Phoenix Hatchback.

You get an exciting new chapter of Pontiac driving fun. With front-wheel drive. Rack and pinion steering. And MacPherson strut front suspension.

Another exciting thought. You get even more standard features than on our well-equipped '79 Phoenix. Such new standards as radial tuned suspension, integral body-color bumpers, column-mounted dimmer/washer switch, dome lamp switches on all the doors, load floor Hatchback carpeting and much more.

That's more Pontiac.

count what the defense is doing—and in today's football it's doing plenty. The day is past when a defensive team lines up one way and reacts the same way for 60 minutes. Most college teams employ variations of zone coverage in the secondary with a sprinkling of man to man.

"It's like a game of chess; a lot of strategy is involved," says one pass-minded coach. "The biggest thing the defense has done in recent years is getting the linebackers deep, cutting off underneath patterns in the curl and crossing areas.

"Every pass pattern is devised with a primary receiver you are trying to free," he explains. "It could be based on what the defense does, or what you think the defense will be doing. You do have some idea. A team can't have over five or six coverages to be sound defensively. A lot of it, too, is your receiver against their defender (trying to get a mismatch in speed, physique, or ability)."

The dropback passing coach says he will go into a game with 15 basic plays with numerous options. "Every night in practice we'll spend at least an hour on some phase of the passing game," he says. "But there is a heckuva lot of coaching going on during the ball game. We make a lot of adjustments in our plays and patterns during the game. We throw a lot of passes, but we feel that's as safe as handing the ball off. It's a heckuva lot safer than pitching it out back there on an option."

The dropback passing coach points out that his team has the whole field to throw to, resulting in more receivers running more varied routes.

The team with the sprintout offense is basically going to throw to the side of the field that the quarterback is rolling to. A basic play would have a wide receiver driving deep with an inside receiver reading the coverage and seeking an open spot in front of or between the defensive zones.

Then there are the wishbone teams that normally don't put the ball up much, although more and more of them have become successful throwing.

"We have fewer patterns than a team whose primary mode of offense is passing," says one Southwest Conference wishbone coach. "But we'll also run a dropback type of offense with five receivers out. In the wishbone, we must have control (play-action) passes where the route is run in a timed type of thing. We want to force people to respect the deep zone. If they do that, they don't have people where we want to run the football."

He looks on the play-action passes from the wishbone as (1) "a cure" to keep the secondary off the line of scrimmage and (2) "a great advantage" because they can produce the long gainer or touchdown aerial when the secondary is playing and thinking run.

No matter how the offense lines up, the pass patterns and cuts are standard throughout the game. Sometimes the terminology differs from team to team, but undoubtedly you've heard some of these terms on television or at a quarterback club meeting:

Curl—Wide receiver breaks straight down the field for 15 yards and "curls" back toward the middle—usually about a 12-yard pattern.

Flag—Wide receiver breaks straight ahead for 12-15 yards, then cuts toward flag on goal line.

Post—Wide receiver runs straight ahead, cuts in direction of goal posts.

Crossing—Wide receiver breaks straight ahead for 12-15 yards, then makes 90-degree cut across middle of field.

Squareout—Wide receiver runs straight ahead for 10 yards, fakes break toward middle and then cuts back to sideline.

Streak—Wide receiver, with or without fake along the way, streaks deep.

Hitch—Wide receiver runs straight ahead for about five yards, then cuts abruptly back toward middle.

Loop—Wide receiver runs straight ahead, makes move toward sideline, and circles back toward middle.

Slant—Wide receiver goes about four yards straight ahead, then slants to middle and deep.

Out and Up—Wide receiver makes quick break toward sideline and then straightens out and runs up sideline.

Circle—Back breaks out of backfield and circles toward middle of field.

Flare—Back breaks out of backfield and flares toward sideline.

Swing—Back, with or without blocking first, swings into the flat for screen pass or to serve as safety-valve receiver.

Flat—Back drifts toward line of scrimmage and cuts into flat.

Just like the playbook outlined it: cut back towards the middle, turn in for the ball.

Quality.
Again. And again. And again.

Quality makes them worth asking for.

Poolen. Pullen. Polann.

With a name like Poulan, getting people to say the name right may be asking a lot.

On the other hand, people ask an awful lot of our saws. Quick starting. Extra cutting power. Quiet operation. Beautiful styling. Durability. Affordability.

And we deliver all that plus a lot of other standard features, no matter which Poulan saw they buy. From the Poulan Micro XXV right on up to our pro models.

At Poulan, we figure the more we put into our saws, the less people have to put into cutting.

Maybe that's why more and more people keep asking for our saws.

And as long as they keep doing that, they can say the name any way they like.

Arizona

Fred (The

Fox) Snowden always said he would be the one to take over the West after "the man" — John Wooden — departed the scene. Sure enough, here came Snowden's Arizona Wildcats galloping into the Pac-10 last year from the wild WAC to do wacky things like whip UCLA and Southern Cal back-to-back, then score 98 against New Mexico only to lose by 31. Arizona returns four starters, including the skilled back court of Joe Nehls and Russell Brown, but newcomers such as tall Frank Smith, Ron Davis and the brilliant Leon Wood must play somewhere. The latter two join several other Californians in Tucson, leading credence to the belief that Snowden's real desire is to become the Twentieth Century Fox.

Brigham Young

Speaking of UCLA, former Wooden assistant Frank Arnold finally got the Mormon program rolling after recruiting two plums in a row, guard Danny Ainge and forward Devin Durrant. The Cougars bounced Big Ten tri-champion Purdue early, then won 20 games and looked like a good bet for the Final Four what with the West regional in Provo. Alas, San Francisco saw to it that BYU never made it back home. The versatile Ainge already has broken the school season scoring record while shooter Scott Runia and rebounder Allen Taylor are players of value. The new center is much-ballyhooed 6-11 Greg Kite, who will furnish that long-sought commodity, team depth.

Duke

A funny thing happened to the Blue Devils on their way to the national championship. They tripped over press clippings or cigarette butts or Coach Bill Forster's plaid pants or something. —GRANTLAND RICE

---

I n college football's 110 years, no forward wall has received as much deserved ink or stands so secure a legend as Fordham's Seven Blocks of Granite, defensive scourge of the late Twenties and Thirties. It is also a curious fact that no fabled tale is so beset with inaccuracies.

The notion somehow prevails that the Seven Blocks of Granite began with the once-defeated and undefeated Fordham teams of 1936 and '37, coached by James Harold (Sleepy Jim) Crowley, left halfback of Notre Dame's 1924 backfield known as The Four Horsemen. Actually, the original Seven Blocks of Granite belonged to the undefeated 1929 and the once-defeated '30 teams, coached by Frank William Cavanaugh, The Iron Major.

The 1936 Fordham line has been referred to as The Rocks, a misguided attempt to distinguish it from the '37 line. Calling them the Rocks was, yes, a Rock, upper case R. The '36 line was called The Blocks—second version—before the '37 line was. In fact, four of

What it means to be a breed apart.

Imagination, instinct, and versatility (not size alone) set Merrill Lynch apart from the rest of the herd.

Too many people see only the size of Merrill Lynch; they miss the subtler qualities that truly make us a breed apart. For example:

Imagination. An oil exploration company needed $75 million, but traditional ways of raising it would have overly diluted earnings or impaired financial flexibility. Our solution: a public offering of convertible preferred stock.

Instinct. A corporate client wanted to buy back 200,000 shares of its own stock. Getting the best price was a question of market timing...of knowing when to walk out of the market and let the price sink, when to buy aggressively.

That's instinct. And it helped us buy all 200,000 shares within ½ point of the starting price.

Versatility. We can also help you reach your personal financial goals, despite changing markets and tough tax laws. As your assets grow and your needs change, your Account Executive can keep pace with equities, commodities, bonds, annuities, and tax investments.

How can Merrill Lynch's unmatched resources benefit you? Ask us. Find out what it means to deal with a breed apart.

point, hustling Kenny Dennard and forward Gene Banks still look imposing in the corners, and sophomore swingman Vince Taylor is a coming star. This is not to mention the newest Dukes, Tom Emma and Chip Engelland, backcourtmen who can do a lot of everything, and beefy forward Mike Tisaw. Now if Foster can just keep his men away from the newsstands.

DePaul After all the laughter; after all the tears; in fact after 597 victories and 37 years, there was Ray Meyer—old and wonderful but, in probably his last try, still short of the national championship game by the margin of one basket. But wait. If any of Salt Lake City's Final Four make it back next spring, it probably will be the Blue Demons. You could call forward Mark Aguirre anything—the Pillsbury doughboy, the Muffin Man—but you could never call him late for dinner. Or anything else but Influential Star. Two of Aguirre's high school teammates, Skip Dillard and Bernard Randolph, come in to replace Gary Garland and help Clyde Bradshaw in backcourt while rookies 6-7 Teddy Grubbs, a potential super, and 6-9 Terry quietly compiled 47 victories (including eight against tournament teams last year) only to be knocked out of national attention in March. Six-seven forward Craig (Big Sky) Shelton and 6-3 guard Eric (Sleepy) Floyd possess the nicknames and 23-year old soph center Ed Spriggs owns the occupation—he is a former postal worker. But the Hoya honcho is backcourt general John Duren, a muscular Quinn Buckner-type who starred on the Pan-Am team this summer. Coach John Thompson's only depth are sophs Eric Smith and Jeff Bullis, but with Duren and Shelton providing perhaps the niftiest guard-forward combo on campus, Georgetown's mail will travel special delivery again.

Indiana If it hadn't been for losing three games to national champ Michigan State by a total of 53 points, the Hoosiers might have had a satisfactory season. As it was, all Bobby Knight and his troops had to fall back on was the NIT title. Ah, genius. Knight badly wanted to coach the Olympic team this coming year. Red Auerbach badly wanted him to coach the Celtics. Instead, the volatile coach will fall back again—possibly backdown the road to Indianapolis and the NCAA Final Four. Frontcourt players Ray Tolbert, Landon Turner and Steve Risley return. Big guards Butch Carter and Randy Wittman return. Forward Mike Woodson, too long unrecognized, might be the next Walter Davis. Then there are the rookies, shifty Isaiah Thomas to run the show and strong Steve Bouchie to push people around. The only thing to do is pray for Michigan State.

Louisian Steve Stipanovich. Yet all eyes in the Big Eight are focused again on the mystery team in Lawrence where alternating years of 1) Coach Ted Owens going on the firing block and 2) his team bailing him out with 24 wins, continue. A backcourt made up of the wondrous Darnell Valentine and Wilmore Fowler gets further solidified by newcomer Ricky Ross. The forwards include John Crawford, Booty Neal and the fast-improving David Magley. Tony Guy can swing and 6-10 Mark Snow, who broke his foot, begins a rookie season all over again. Snow is just one candidate to replace Paul Mokeski in the middle, a place the Jayhawks should not finish anymore.

Kentucky "These freshmen remind me of the 1960 Olympic team, which had talent all over," said Wildcat Coach Joe Hall. "A recruit is like a Derby horse. You don't know about him until you put him in a race," said assistant

Darnell Valentine, Kansas

Dick Parsons. Well, Spectacular Bid would have a hard time fending off the multiple freshman entry Hall and Parsons have put together: 7-1 Sam Bowie, 6-7 Derrick Hord, 6-6 Charles Hurt, 6-3 Dirk Minniefield and 6-8 Tom Heitz. That's a whole team, isn't it? Bowie gets the pub, but Hord and Hurt look like the prizes. As if the Wildcats weren't already well-stocked with senior Kyle Macy being the smartest—and possibly best—guard in the nation and with dynamic sophomore Dwight Anderson being the quickest. No one should forget returnees Chuck Verderber, Lavon Williams, Freddie Cowan and Jay Shidler, who also enjoyed considerable starting time. What numbers! This isn't the Derby; it's the Indy 500.

You, your budget and the 1980 Buick Skylark.

Your money will buy a lot of miles with Skylark's EPA estimated 24 mpg, estimated 38 for highway. Remember: Compare this estimate to the "estimated mpg" of other cars. You may get different mileage depending on your speed, trip length, and weather. Your actual highway mileage will probably be less than the estimated highway fuel economy. Estimates lower in California.

A budget pleasing figure. In fact, we think the price will make the new Skylark positively irresistible.

It just might be the perfect car for you.

Nowadays, when you think about a car, good old-fashioned virtues like thrift and value readily come to mind. The 1980 Buick Skylark provides these qualities abundantly. Its performance is very pleasing, too. With the standard 1980 2.5 liter 4-cylinder engine and available automatic transmission, it's quicker from 0-50 mph than last year's Skylark with the standard 3.8 liter V-6 and automatic. We think you'll find it's a treat, indeed, to ride in or drive. Talk to your Buick dealer about buying or leasing one. For you, and your budget, Skylark just might be the perfect car.

CIGARS

the front seven played both years: Alex Wojciechowicz, center-linebacker; tackles Ed Franco and Al Bart (Babartsky); and right end Johnny Druze, '37 captain. Wojie and Franco made All America, and Wojie, a star with the Detroit Lions and Philadelphia Eagles, is in both the College and Professional Halls of Fame.

The 1936 Blocks included a right guard who became the most famous of all and did much to immortalize them: Vince Lombardi.

The name, Seven Blocks of Granite, was not coined by either Grantland Rice or this writer, as ascribed. The identity of the coiner is unknown, and wouldn't believe it. In 1930, game No. 12 was a shutout of Boston College, 3-0, at Fenway Park on a Monday, in fierce Columbus Day heat, and No. 13 a 6-0 shutout of Holy Cross at Fittin Field five days later. No. 14 was a shutout of NYU, 7-0, at Yankee Stadium, before 80,000 at $3.00 a head.

Sometime in the week between games 13 and 14, between October 18 and 25, the Associated Press ran a picture of the Fordham line, and whoever wrote the outline called it The Seven Blocks of Granite. The picture appeared in many newspapers.

To this day, nobody knows who coined the name. He's no doubt long brought team in the 1941 Cotton Bowl 13-12, and beat Missouri, 2-0, in the 1942 Sugar Bowl. Coach Don Faurot, of Missouri, unveiled the Split-T formation that year. The Rams played the best teams they could schedule: Pitt, NYU, St. Mary's, Purdue, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina.

To list all the people who contributed to the Seven Blocks era is impossible here. It would have to include all the alternates and the great defensive backs, who defended so completely against run or pass. But all agree that of the early group, the standout was center-linebacker Thomas (Tony) Siano, may remain so. Here is the background:

Only one touchdown was scored against Fordham during the 1936-37 Blocks' heyday.

The Fordham 1929 and '37 Blocks gave up no touchdowns. The 1930 and '36 Blocks gave up one each. The '30 Blocks were scored upon only by St. Mary's in the Ram's only defeat that year, 20-12, after leading at the half, 12-0, on a rainy day in the Polo Grounds. Some doubt, however, that the scorer, quarterback Boyle, ever did get over.

There was no doubt about the '36 TD, however, scored by New York University halfback, George Savarese. It enabled NYU to upset the Rams, 7-6, in the finale, and probably cost them an invitation to the Rose Bowl from Washington. The next year Fordham went unbeaten, but Alabama got the Rose Bowl bid. The dream of Rose Hill to the Rose Bowl never came true.

Anyhow, the 1929-30 Granites went through all nine games of '29 and the first seven of '30 without giving up a touchdown, and the feat was sprinkled with so many goal line stands you since passed away. But his imagination did a lot for Fordham and for college football.

This writer served as sports information director for five seasons under Crowley, and when the Wojciechowicz-Franco team came along in 1936, the writer exhumed the old AP clipping, dusted off the pseudonym, and applied it to the 1936 and '37 teams. This time it caught on better than in 1930, because the Fordham dynasty was that much farther advanced. But the 1929 and '30 players, were the corner and foundation stones of the Seven Blocks of Granite.

Don't ever doubt that Fordham, with its Blocks, enjoyed a real dynasty in the 13 seasons, 1929-'41, Cav's last four and Crowley's nine. The overall record—83-17-11—797, topped everything in the East, including Pittsburgh's 91-24-7—775. Pitt and Fordham played three straight scoreless ties in the Polo Grounds in 1935 '36 and '37. Fordham lost to the Texas Aggies John Kimcaptain in both 1929 and '30, a bow-legged, 162-pound firecat who lived in the other team's backfield. Tony made All America, as did Henry (Pistol Pete) Wisniewski, a redoubtable tower at guard, and halfback Jim Murphy, a flaming runner. Mike Miskinis, right tackle in 1929 and '30, was a match for Franco and Babartsky.

Nobody contributed more, however, than Jackie Fisher, a scrawny-looking quarterback with a great arm, head, and heart. Had he not suffered a broken collar bone in the game with Boston College, his senior season of '31, Grantland Rice would have selected Fisher as the first Fordham player to make his first team All-America.

Besides Wojie, Franco, and Babartsky of the later group, there was a great left end named Harry Jacunski, who starred in '37 and '38 and was co-captain the latter year. Dr. Jock Sutherland, the Pitt coach, was among those who saluted Harry as one of the best ever.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—A recognized authority on basketball and tennis, Curry Kirkpatrick has covered those two sports with intensity for Sports Illustrated since 1966 when he joined the magazine's staff after graduating from the University of North Carolina. Now a senior writer for SI, he has twice written the annual Sportsman of the Year feature, on Lee Trevino and on Billie Jean King/John Wooden. "My Philosophy," says Curry, "is that sports are fun. I try to write things that might make people laugh."

St. Johns One remembers little Lou Carnesecca, rubbing his craggy features and shaking his bewildered head after three shots failed to fall against Penn and the Redmen failed to make the Final Four. "I regret the balls go in the closet," Louie said. "We'll see you next year." And how. What we shall see of the Redmen is their entire starting five back but hard-pressed to start again. Burly center Wayne McKoy—a James Earl Jones lookalike contest winner—and do-it-all guard Reggie Carter are safe, but rookie Kevin Williams is a threat to playmaker Bernard Rencher, and forwards Frank Gilroy and Ron Plair might well be replaced by the Kansas State transfer, hot dog Curtis Redding, and by 6-4 David Russell, the freshman sleeper of the year. Russell, who may be a mini Dr. J, will fit right in with Carnesecca, who is a mini Rodney Dangerfield. The Redmen, however, will be all maxi. And get lots of respect.

Syracuse The beat goes on and on for the Orangemen of Syracuse and the cast is such that the tempo will be on the upbeat for another year, even if somewhat more difficult. Syracuse is one of only three schools to make it to the NCAA tournament the past seven consecutive years. Now the Orange of Jim Boeheim have gone and become part of a brand new league, one that in addition to SU features Providence, St. John's, Georgetown, Boston College, Seton Hall and Connecticut. But with the likes of the Louie (Orr) and (Roosevelt) Bouie show in forecourt as well as a trunkload of guards, including Eddie Moss, and Hal Cohen, the Orangemen should make it to the NAAs eight years running. The key Orange man, however, may be a Red, 6-4 freshman winger Tony (Red) Bruin, he of the 42-inch vertical leap. That's higher than the average snowbank in Syracuse.

Texas A&M Each year amid his college scouting forays Philadelphia 76er assistant coach Jack McMahon picks a darkhorse he thinks might go all the way in the NAAs. Last season McMahon took one look at 6-11 rookie Rudy Woods and his Aggie front line mates and thought he had seen the national champion. A&M was upset in the SWC tournament but still won 24 games in a shocking reversal of the previous seventh-place season, which happened to be Coach Shelby Metcalf's worst in 15 years. Metcalf's wife, Janis, once taught Woods at Bryan High School in College Station, so getting him was easy. Getting him to meld with 6-7 all-league Vernon Smith and 6-6 Rynn Wright, who resembles Franco Harris, was easier still; Woods' forte is defense. Nobody guards backcourtmen Dave Goff and David Britton, but Tyrone Ladson can drive or hit from outside.

UCLA Summer, 1978. Here is Larry Brown getting ready for pressure by—what?—running and finishing the Chicago Marathon. Spring, 1979. Here is Larry Brown escaping pressure by—what? what?—signing on to coach the UCLA Bruins. Whether guiding the glamour team of the age will be any less taxing than putting up with spoiled NBA zillionaires is moot, but the hardest part was already over after the new coach gathered a flock of stand-outs, namely forwards Darren Daye and Cliff Pruitt and guards Mike Holton and Rod Foster. Veteran inside players Kiki Vandeweghe, James Wilkes, Gig Sims and Darrell Allums all return, but the two best customers in the program may be the Notre Dame-killer, 6-4 Tyren Nauls, and the vastly unknown, 6-6 Mike Sanders. Watch Sanders. And watch Brown. Everybody else in the sport will be.

Danny Ainge, BYU

Virginia Fourteen TV stations. Twenty-five radio stations. Pick any number (of) print media. This was the audience which greeted the Jabbarian oracle, Ralph (The Stick) Sampson, at his press conference in Harrisonburg, Va. on the evening of May 31 to see if the 7-3 center had selected Kentucky or North Carolina to carry to the NCAA finals. Lo and behold, the Stick pointed instead to his home state university in Charlottesville where he will join four returning starters not to mention one of the most underrated coaches anywhere, Terry Holland. The Cavaliers (Wahoos) have won 40 games in two seasons while playing the best defense in the ACC. Jeff Lamp and Jeff Jones are an exquisite backcourt, the former being dynamite, mistake-free and all-league; the latter having led the conference in assists as a freshman. Then there are veteran swing man Lee Raker, small forward Mike Owens and two new 6-8's, Craig Robinson and Lewis Lattimore, to surround Sampson. Suddenly a school, which has never really had a center, may have one after all.

COULD A SHADOW SHED LIGHT ON THEIR SECRET?

The door creaked a cautious welcome as they pushed it open. Their eyes scanned the sparse office, locked on mine, then darted to the darkened hall. Who were they? Why were they here?

Two things I knew for sure. First, they were being followed. And, second, they had real class. Lots of it. Just the cut of their clothes said style and elegance. The fabric said taste.

Questions buzzed in my mind like hornets. But, in this business it's money first. So I told 'em my fee and took a swig of cold coffee. They went for their wallets and suddenly, the pieces fit. I caught a glimpse of a familiar label inside their coats, and knew why they were followed. There ain't a dame around who can pass up the great looks of Haggar Imperial slacks and sport coats.

LOCATION LIMIT:

A home insurance policy that comes closer to giving you
FULL replacement cost when you suffer a loss.

Most policies have these limits:

1. A fixed amount on your dwelling.
2. Personal Property (50% of the dwelling amount.)
3. Personal Property (50% of the dwelling amount.)
4. Additional living expense (20% of the dwelling amount).

With a maximum limit on each of these four items there can be no flexibility should your loss on any item(s) exceed the limit for the item(s).

Our Policy Offers:

1. A location limit amount at the location in the policy. This means that if you suffer a loss under your LOCATION LIMIT policy you can collect for your proven combined loss to the dwelling, outbuildings, personal property and for additional living expense up to the location limit amount, with no "per item" limit restriction.

Her Big Red pride is winning.

Last year more than 150 women participated in Nebraska's intercollegiate athletic program. Our Big Red athletes are feeling the excitement of what a strong athletic program can do.

- * Our volleyball team ranked 17th in the nation.
- * A record of 23-13 ranked basketball 3rd in the Big 8.
- * Our gymnasts took first in the Big 8 and ranked 11th nationally.
- * 18 out of 24 school records were broken in swimming and diving.
- * We were 4th in track and field Big 8 indoor championships.
- * Our softball team had a 19-12 season.
- * Our tennis players are Big 8 champs in singles and doubles.

Not a bad overall record for a good athletic program. But, we can always improve. In recruiting. In scholarships. In training. And in building an even stronger program in years to come. Show your support of Big Red Women's Intercollegiate Athletics. Send us your check...or your name and address, and we'll show you how to become a Big Red Boost Her Club member. # Cornhusker Wheel Club 1979

Automobile dealers in Nebraska are contributing a large measure of help to the University of Nebraska athletic program through the loan of courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of the Cornhusker booster group activities, this project enables the Nebraska Athletic Department to make greater use of its funds.

These sports-minded dealers around the state have earned a debt of gratitude from the University of Nebraska Athletic Department. They are an important part of the "team" that includes players, coaches, administration, faculty, staff, students, alumni, Husker Educational Award group, Touchdown Club, Extra Point Club, Beef Club and the courtesy car program.

KODAK HONORS ALL-AMERICANS

Autumn—the season for the thrills and pageantry of college football. The cohesiveness that has made our country the great land it is can be found every Saturday in stadiums of every size throughout the land as gifted college athletes and loyal followers combine to create an unrivaled spectacle.

At the University of Nebraska, this same aura hangs over Memorial Stadium as the Cornhuskers perform on the gridiron that has brought fame to many sons of yesteryear.

Recall the names Bob Brown, Larry Kramer, Tony Jeter, Walt Barnes, Wayne Meylan, Bob Newton, Johnny Rodgers, Larry Jacobson, Rich Glover, Willie Harper, Daryl White, John Dutton, Marvin Crenshaw, Dave Humm, Rik Bonness, Dave Butterfield and Kelvin Clark. What do they have in common besides being famed members of past Nebraska teams? All were members of Kodak All-America football teams.

The tradition for recognition of individual excellence in college football dates back to 1899 when Yale Coach Walter Camp selected the original All-America football team. This college football tradition continues today with the Kodak All-American team as selected by The American Football Coaches Association.

Eastman Kodak Company is proud to have been associated with the AFCA and the All-America team since 1960. The young men deemed recipients of this most prestigious honor reflect the achievement of excellence that is truly part of the American tradition.

The standard of greatness achieved by Walter Camp shines on these individuals. Football players, yes, but All-Americans all the way.

THIS YEAR 2000 FOOTBALL COACHES WILL AGREE ON ONE THING:

THE KODAK ALL-AMERICA FOOTBALL TEAM

At the end of this season, the American Football Coaches Association will agree on 22 college football players who are representative of the best in the nation. For these young men, it will be an unequalled honor to be recognized by the men who know the game best—the coaches. There are many All-American football teams. There is only one selected by the college football coaches. The 1979 Kodak All-America

Football Team. Watch for it.

Hot tub gives vet really clean feeling

By Connie Gulick
Editorial Assistant
Office of University Information

Whether milling about Broyhill Fountain before game time or purposefully striding towards Memorial Stadium, the Saturday morning football crowd stops dead in its tracks.

There's a man taking a bath out there, on the north side of the Union in the chilly fall weather, right where everybody can see him. And if they can't see him in the circular wooden hot tub they can hear him over the sound of the gurgling bubbles that surround him.

"Come take a look, guys. If you don't look, you can't win . . . Hey! Wouldn't this look great in your place? . . . Sir! Sir! Are you a veteran?"

The voice belongs to Jerry Lippincott, president of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Student Veteran Club. He's been steaming away in the hot tub, sometimes alone, sometimes with other vets, or an occasional female sympathizer—for the past four football Saturdays.

What's he doing in there, clad only in a cowboy hat and jogging shorts, when it's only 50 degrees or less outside?

Lippincott smiles lazily and repositions himself before he answers the question one more time.

"This is the greatest. The heater has a capacity of 120 degrees," he replies, reaching over his shoulder to flick on the whirlpool control. Immediately, churning waters start spewing out streams of foamy bubbles.

"Just look at this. Wouldn't it look great in your home?" Lippincott asks. "All you do is pay $1 for a raffle ticket. When you win, we deliver—within 400 miles that is."

Someone always asks, "Do you come with it?" which is followed by a ripple of laughter, especially from the females.

That's when someone's husband, who is not laughing, asks, "Just what are you raffling this off for, anyway?"

Lippincott and his fellow vets are raffling off the $2,400 hot tub and the second prize, a $560 water bed to earn money for their Student Veteran Emergency Loan Fund. The fund enables a student veteran to withdraw "quick cash" if his V.A. check is late in arriving or if some other situation arises in which he needs money fast.

"It's really a good deal," says Lippincott, "because the student doesn't have to go through the rigamarole of convincing someone to finance his loan and filling out millions of papers. It also spares the vets from having to turn themselves over to the loan sharks."

He patiently explains this from the depths of the bubbling hot tub, as other bemused passersby stop to listen or to assure themselves they really see what they are seeing.

Meanwhile, other student veterans circulate through the crowd selling raffle tickets. They sell quite a few.

"When am I going to win this hot tub?" a ticket buyer jokingly asks.

"The drawing's here at Broyhill Fountain on Oct. 27th," the vendor answers.

PROVEN:
THAN EVER BEFORE POSSIBLE.

NEW MAGNAVOX
TOUCH-TUNE TELEVISION.

MORE LINES OF RESOLUTION MAKE THE DIFFERENCE.

Lines of resolution determine how sharp your color TV picture will be. The more lines, the sharper the picture. And Magnavox has more lines than ever before possible.

Ordinary color TV pictures have 260 lines. Magnavox Computer Color 330 delivers 330 lines. That's 25% more lines of resolution for Magnavox. That means Magnavox has a 25% sharper, crisper, clearer color picture.

For documentation of this fact, please write: Magnavox, Dept. 700, Fort Wayne, IN. 46804

NEW MAGNAVOX TOUCH-TUNE TELEVISION ALSO GIVES YOU:

- ☐ Computer Touch-Tuning... for ease and exactness.
- ☐ Computer Designed Chassis... for reliability and performance.
- ☐ Improved Sound... for greater realism.

And Magnavox is cable-ready for 20 cable channels without a converter... to save you time and money.
